Finding a New Home

Over the past six months my perception of home has changed from my hometown Washington, to Missouri, to the United States, to Ukarumpa, Papua New Guinea. Saying goodbye to one home after another has never been easy. In the village I was known as the city girl, but is that really my identity? Is my home really the United States or Papua New Guinea?

"But we are citizens of heaven, where the Lord Jesus Christ lives. And we are eagerly waiting for him to return as our Savior." Philippians 3:20 (NLT). Remembering my true home has helped me overcome uneasiness over culture shock, homesickness for family and friends in the United States, and made me so very excited knowing that the work here is helping to add more citizens to our true home.

Ukarumpa is most definitely a unique place made up of many different cultures and missionaries from all over the world. It has been a pleasure so far seeing such a diverse group of people work together for our shared home.

Thank you for all of your prayers as I've settled into Ukarumpa. For more stories and pictures please visit www.armstrongpng.weebly.com
